Dear APacCHRIE members and friends:

I am delighted to serve as President of APacCHRIE for the following one-year term (2021-2022). APacCHRIE was founded in 2002 by the initiative of Professor Kaye Chon as a spin-off from ICHRIE. Now it has become one of the six Federations that represent academia, industry and education in hospitality and tourism. APacCHRIE has grown as a representative academic association in the Asia Pacific region. All its achievements are attributable to members’ unanimous support for and steadfast commitment to our Federation.

I joined our Federation as a board member in 2010 and since then have served in a variety of positions. I have observed APacCHRIE’s continuous evolution and prosperity with delight. I really appreciate Past Presidents’ endeavors and dedication, and I will follow in their footsteps to continue their legacy and devotional spirit. Specially, despite many challenges due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Immediate Past President, Ms Margaret Heng showcased excellent leadership and strong commitment that helped us to maneuver through the difficult times.

In 2021, we are facing a gloomy status quo due to the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic, which began in late 2019, and has so far caused more than 4 million deaths worldwide and paralyzed industrial ecosystems. Some of the most severe impacts have occurred in the hospitality and tourism industry. Stringent social distancing measures between regions and countries hit the airline industry and tourist destination economies. These effects threatened job security and social/national stability. Interestingly, the pandemic has produced paradigm changes in global business, facilitating ‘Go Mobile’, ‘Go Digital’, ‘Go Internet’, ‘Go Virtual’, ‘Go Technology’ and ‘Go Contactless’. The business environment has totally changed to exploit the advantages of digital technology.
COVID-19 encompasses both opportunity and danger, like Janus’s two faces. For example, many international conferences have been conducted using virtual technology and online meeting technology businesses are experiencing an upsurge in trade, while traditional event companies have been suffering in many ways.

Confronting this grave global environment, we have to work hard to provide solutions or better ideas to all relevant stakeholders, from individual to international levels. We need to collaborate and make every effort to converge our wisdom, knowledge, and know-how in order to reboot hospitality and tourism businesses. We believe that there is light at the end of the tunnel.

As President, I feel truly fortunate to be able to contribute to the ongoing success of APacCHRIE together with my fellow board members. It is my primary duty to seamlessly communicate with APacCHRIE members and listen to their requests. Your constructive suggestions and ongoing encouragement will help our Federation to step up. We will do our utmost to make our academia, industry, education and society better. Very importantly, we have to make APacCHRIE 2022 successful. Let’s support the Sunway University organizing team unanimously!

I wish you good luck, good health, and safety. All the Best!

Yours sincerely,

Sam Kim, PhD, CHE

The global pandemic continues to spread in year 2021 and recovery for the tourism industry still seems to be a long journey. With stringent quarantine measures in place, visitor numbers to Hong Kong have faded to almost zero. According to the Hong Kong Tourism Board – the tourism authority of Hong Kong SAR, Hong Kong saw a cumulative visitor arrival of around 34,000 in the first half of year 2021, a 99.0% drop year on year. The provisional visitor arrivals for April 2021 were around 5,700. The corresponding figure for June 2021 were 6,200, a 57.6% drop year on year.

With visitors and Hong Kong people both unable to travel, the HKTB introduced various types of promotions in order to encourage local residents to be tourists in their own city. “Holiday at Home” – which is a promotional campaign and platform which provides local residents with over 15,000 offers in dining, retail outlets and attractions – was launched in June 2020 (see Figure 1). In the second phase of that campaign, participants could redeem a quota for a free local tour upon spending HKD800 in retail or dining outlets.

Apart from stimulating spending by local residents, the HKTB also introduced new promotion campaign with the dual goals of maintaining Hong Kong’s global visibility and delivering a positive message about Hong Kong to source markets. To maintain Hong Kong’s brand as a centre for major international events, even though the pandemic is not over, the HKTB organized... mega events in new formats to comply with social distancing rules. For instance, the Hong Kong Wine & Dine Festival adopted a new “Online + Offline” format (see Figure 2). The Hong Kong Winterfest and the Hong Kong New Year Countdown Celebrations were held online for the first time. The HKTB hopes to relaunch other mega events (e.g., the Hong Kong Cyclothon) if the pandemic situation in the city remains under control.

In addition to tremendous effort made by the tourism authority, all players working in the tourism industry have united together to stand up to this challenge. Our tourism infrastructure such as airport, exhibition venues and public transport network have strengthened their disinfection routines. Tourist attractions have put in place new booking arrangements. Hotels and restaurants have introduced new protocols to ensure the health of all customers. All of these important steps have been taken with one goal in mind: To ensure that the Hong Kong public and visitors feel safe in our city.

PROSPECT

The HKTB recently announced its series of strategies to prepare for the return of tourists and drive the sustainable growth of the tourism industry. The short-term strategies primarily aim to bring back visitors to Hong Kong as soon as possible. For instance, the HKTB will increase marketing resources for the Greater Bay Area (GBA) to attract visitors to travel to Hong Kong for leisure. Collaboration with other cities in the GBA is planned to be executed. The HKTB will join hands with other cities in the GBA (e.g., Macau, Zhuhai, Foshan) to build the GBA tourism brand.

Other ongoing initiatives, like organizing international sports events and supporting local event organizers in bidding to host more international conferences in Hong Kong, will continue to be offered. Moreover, a large-scale promotional campaign named “Open House Hong Kong” will also be launched by HKTB when cross-border travel resumes. That new campaign will leverage exclusive experiences and city-wide offers to entice visitors’ desire to travel to Hong Kong. As modern consumers are becoming more tech-savvy, traditional media outlets (e.g., website, Facebook, Instagram) and emerging digital platforms (e.g., KakaoTalk, TikTok, Xiaohongshu) will jointly be used to present Hong Kong’s skyline and other beautiful landscapes to international travelers. With this proper recovery plan and the renowned can-do spirit of Hong Kong people, it is believed that the Hong Kong tourism industry will ride out this very massive storm.

Hong Kong Representative of APacCHRIE
Macau has been a role model when it comes to controlling the spread of COVID-19. The city was looking forward to economy recovery as tourists gradually returning during first half of 2021. Approximately $1.05 billion of gross gaming revenue (GGR) was recorded in July 2021, which is 29.2 percent higher than the previous month (Barrett, 2021). Unexpectedly, after having no local cases for more than a year, four new cases were reported in early August 2021 from a local family whose young daughter was tested positive after returning from a study trip in Mainland China. The Macau SAR government reacted immediately and arranged a mass testing of more than 700,000 residents. Entertainment and leisure venues such as gyms, bars and clubs were closed for two weeks from 5 August 2021 to 18 August 2021. This has somehow influenced the pace of the recovery of the local economy, and the gaming operators are expecting such slow recovery to continue until next year. The recent cases in the nearby cities, such as Guangzhou, Shenzhen, and Zhongshan, have further reduced the number of visitor arrivals in Macau. The GGR in August 2021 has been hit to $554 million only, which is the lowest monthly total in 2021, and a 47.4 percent month-to-month decline from the previous month (O’Connor, 2021).

No further cases have been identified after the mass testing in August 2021. However, the number of visitors is still far below what it used to be before the pandemic, especially as quarantine requirements remain for visitors. Additionally, the traffic between Macau and Hong Kong still has not resumed back to normal, and visitors from Mainland China are required to show recent negative test result. The government has been promoting the benefits of being vaccinated to the public to push higher vaccination rate. As of August 2021, approximately 43 percent of the local population has been vaccinated (Barrett, 2021). Schools will resume face-to-face classes on 6 September 2021.
In May 2021, the Macau SAR government has announced another round of the electronic consumption benefits plan running from 7 May 2021 to 10 December 2021 (Government Information Bureau, 2021). The plan was designed to help stabilize the local economy by boosting internal consumption. Macau ID holders are entitled to receive MOP5,000 plus MOP3,000 in additional discounts. Although Macau has confirmed only 63 cases and zero deaths since the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic (as of 4 September 2021), the city is still facing a number of uncertainties in the near future.
